

INTENDA

//
I COULDN'T BE A BIGGER FAN
//

- STEPHANIE NELSON
FROM CAPITAL PIPELINE

fraXses and the Intenda team have enabled and empowered our business and technology to advance our clients and our market in ways that we could not have expected, asked for, or planned. It has been an absolute joy working with them.

Capital Pipeline is a data analytics tool that allows you find, target, and win public design and construction projects throughout Arizona. This tool allows clients to sort and filter according to market sector, project size, geography, and more. They required an entirely different approach to data processing and management, combined with a solution that would provide best-in-class processes for PDF processing, data storage and business intelligence. This is where fraXses played a key role.

"The impact fraXses and the Intenda team have made is exponential. Their contributor culture and amazing service delivery, combined with state-of-the-art technology has enabled us to go live within a couple of months, rather than the two to three years originally estimated."
